MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

RETURN OF MARY ANDERSON. At the Fifth Avenue Theatre, last night, Miss Mary Anderson effected her reentrance upon the New-York stage, appearing as Pauline, in the "Lady of Lyons," and being welcomed with enthusiasm by a numerous and remarkably brilliant "The Lady of Lyons" is an old story : but Miss Anderson, in her present revival of it, has suffased it with freshnes, by causing its chief characters to be arrayed in dresses of the time of the First Empire. This simple expedient not only insures correctness; it pleases the eye and it agreeably excites the imagination. The actress herself is more than usually beautiful in the Empre-s Josephine garb; and, accordingly, in all its physical attributes, this embodiment of Pauline was an image of peerless loveliness. No woman has appeared upon the stage in our time so entirely and admirably fitted as Miss Anderson is, -by stature, gesture, intellectual poise, and a certain indefinable tone of coldly spiritual refinement,-to represent Pride. She astonished and thrilled her audience, last night, by the wonderful sincerity and firm and well-veiled art with which she advanced to the other exigence of the character, and likewise depicted the passion of Love. It is the struggle beween these two emotions that Bulwer has illustrated in this play ; and, although we may smile at the imprehabinties, the fantastic expedients, the wild scheme, and the lingual fustian of the comedy, this struggle is one that always will command sympathetic attention when shown by an actress who is beautiful, artistic, and in earnest.

Miss Anderson's expression of the tranquil ecstasy of pleased content, in Melnotte's wooing scene, might, in particular, be cited as one of the most significant subtleties of her impersonation. Her assumption of sarcasm, her storm of passion and her ultimate splendid selfabandonment-in the cottage scenes-revealed a variety of power and a depth of passionate tenderess that well might startle those observers who have so mistakenly accounted her frigid in temperament and mechanical in style. At the beginning. with exquisite skill and propriety, she gave to Pauline a certain tone of languid artifice ; but that was cast aside the moment the character became dominated by gennine feeling, and thereafter the treatment of the ordeal with Melnotte was marked with the deepest tenderness struggling through righteous. natural, and truly woman-like resentment. Now, as before, the preeminence and especial individuality of the actress were seen to be tragical-the outbursts, when they came, being somewhat out of unison with the level mood of the part, and in fact, the wild utterances of a personal nature much larger, broader and deeper than that which it as-So much pathos, however, such lovely use of gentleness, and such forlorn misery, in the crushed condition of Pauline, have seldom or never been infused into the part. Miss Anderson was recalled with great enthusiasm at the end of acts second and third, and twice after the fourth curtain. The Melnotte of the night was Mr. R. L. Downing, and in this performance it was pleasant to observe so much sweetness, earnestness and manly repose. The general treatment of the part, likewise, had convenmal correctness. But Mr. Downing will be a better Claude when he shall have discarded his lymphatic manner, monotonous vocalism, icy self-repression, and iron-bound demeanor. All these are discordant in a character that is picturesque with romantic wildness, and tremulous with passion, whether obvious or suppressed. A neat and finished impersonation of Colonel Damas, by Mr. H. B. Norman, is remembered as one of the pleasures of a more than commonly pleasant occasion. The full cast is

THE BENEFIT CONCERT.

The kindly people who arranged the third annual concert for the benefit of the charittes of the Soclety for Ethical Culture may be well pleased with the audience which last evening justified their taste and discernment in presenting as a popular attraction a pro-gramme so tasteful and good as that performed last evening in Steluway Hall.

The Kreutzer sonata for Mr. Joseffy and Mr. Brandt; four small planeforte numbers for Mr. Joseffy; the superb Schumann quintette; Lachner's notturno, by Mr. Bergner, and songs by Miss Heune and Mr. Holst-Hansen-that was the well-planned allotment, undisturbed

The restraint commonly imposed upon criticism of performances for charity is not needed in this case, but we dismiss the subject with the single remark that it is most ene-uraging to note the progress of musical taste which allows such a concert to be successfully offered as the sole and sufficient attraction of a great audience.

MUSICAL NOTES. The Cecilia Club, of Boston, will produce

Gade's " Psyche" at the Tremont Temple, on Thursday

Mr. S. N. Penfield, organist of St. George's Church, will give his second series of organ rechals, on Thursdays, February 22, March 29, and April 26. The recitals are "free by lavitation," invitations being had from Mr. Penfield on application.

At Mr. Theodor Salmon's concert, in Chickering Hall to morrow evening, Mr. Saimon will play Saint-Saëne's "Variations on a Theme from Beethoven" (op. 35) with Mr. Duleken; Chopin's "Andante Spinisto and Polonaise," and lesser works of Mondelssohn, Mozert, Buch, Rubinstein and Liezt, Miss Ella Earle and Mr. Ruchard Arnold will assist.

There is approving agreement among the critics touching the merits and interest of Mr. G. W. Chadwick's "Overture to an Imaginary Comedy," played for the first time at the Boston Symphony Concert, on Saturday evening, under direction of the composer. The Symphony was Rad's "Lenore." The programme of this week affords a noveity, in Massenet's "Scenes Al-sacience." Beethoven's Ninth Symphony is in prepara-tion for the final concert of this series on March 31.

The third concert of the New-York Philharmonic Club is at Chickering Hall this evening. The programme includes three numbers, Onslow's Quintette in G minor (op. 76), with Miss Addie Margulies at the pranoforte; a new Suite of Franz Rice, and the new Sextette in D major (for flute, two violins, violin, 'celle, and contrablass), by Heinrich Hofmann, expressly composed for the club, and decidented to them, which is to be played from MS. for the first time to night.

CONCERT IN NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J. New-Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 15 .- The con cert of the New-York College of Music in the Opera House here to-night was received with enthusiastic applause by the largest audience that has been assembled at a concert here in many years. The result is a great success and a substantial saddition to the Benevolent Scholarship Fund of the college, in aid of which the faculty and students gave their gratuitous services.

SMALLER COLLECTIONS FOR HOSPITALS.

The Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association held its annual meeting at St. Luke's Hospital, at Fifty-fourth-st, and Fifth-ave., last evening, George M. Miller presiding. Charles Lanter submitted his report as treasurer of the association. From this it ap-peared that the collections this year from sources had yielded $25,354 92, against $40,000 last year. dist, 4; fifty Presbyterian, 5; seventy-one Protestant Episcopal, 43; and 21 Dutch Reformed, 5. The principal reason assigned was that the Executive Committee had not understood toe modes of reaching these bodies. The requests had been merely mailed to the pastors and no other notice given. To meet this difficulty, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of clergy men to represent the various religious bodies in this city, which committee should have the power to take such steps as might be deemed best to bring the matter before their churches.

SECOND BALL OF THE PATRIARCHS.

The ball-room at Delmonico's was prettily decorated last evening for the second meeting of the Society of Patriarchs for this season. Masses of green ferns and foliage plants overhung the mirrors between which were groups of evergreen and callas, and narrow panels of red and yellow tulips. In the corners of the room were groups of camellias in blossom. The music balcony, which held Lander's orchestra, was screened by hemlock branches. A well planed and waxed floor gave satisfection to the dancers until it was made slippery by rosepetals from the numerous bouquets worn and carried by the ladies. The appointments were the same as on the former balls of the society. Dancing began at 11:30 p.m., supper was served in the main restaurant at 12:30 .m., and the German began shortly after 1 a.m. William Parsons led, dancing with Mrs. Robert Goelet, and about ninety couples took part.

THE PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

A MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR HOYT TO ADJUST LABOR DISPUTES.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Jan. 15 .- Governor Heyt to night submitted to the Legislature a number of documents and a report of the doings of the Pardon Board to night submitted to the Legislature a number of documents and a report of the doings of the Fardon Board, which were not ready for transmission when he suinitted his annual message. The pardon report is a very extensive paper, covering all the cases. Among the papers submitted is the following: "By the act o' May 11, 1871, an appropriation was made to the Marine Hospital shall convey to the United States for military purposes all title it may have to the peninsula of Preseate Isle obtained from the State of Penusylvania in 1869. An examination discloses the fact that the title to the peninsula was not thereby vested in said hospital, but remains in the State. The Marine Respital made and tendered the deed provided for, but the Secretary of War is unable to accept it, being bound by the provisions of the act of Congress of 1872, which allow him to accept only a complete and indefeasible Litle." Governor Hoyt calls the attention of the General Assembly to the leats and requests suitable legislation to carry out the purpose of the State to convey to the United States said sland.

The Governor also submitted a communication from the Secretary of State at Washington inclosing a memoral of the British Minister in relation to the alleged omission of the laws of Penusylvania to provide for the punisment of a person who leaves the State with intent having fought elsewhere, and that persons taking advantage of this fact make Eric, in Penusylvania, their Statting point for the purpose of going to Ontario in Canada, and illegally engaling in prize fights there. The senate to-night confirmed James L. Selfringe as Health Officer and Dr. Robleson as Lazaretto Physician of Philadelphja without any apparent opposition.

THE NEWHALL HOUSE DISASTER.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 15 .- One hundred and a collection of old coins. The General was very indignant over the report that Officer O'Brien rescued him and his wife. Yesterday afternoon he told Chief Wason that he rescued O'Brien, who might otherwise have per ished. He admits that O'Brien awakened him and his wife and remained in their room about ten min-utes while they were dressing, but when utes while they were dressing, but when they left the room he found a ladder by which they made their escave, and as he began to descend the ladder he told O'Brien that he had better follow him. The General and his troupe left the city this morning, but not until he had warned the police odicials to inform him immediately if his trunk was found.

Exeming—Christian Hagen, one of the servants reported missing, is safe. This makes 96 known to be saved out of 177. Pitty-one bodies so far have been recovered, 28 of which were burned beyond recognition, leaving 30 still missing. It is not known, but it is supposed the register is in the safe, which will be reached by the disgress snortly, as also the court in the centre where probably most of the bodies will be found. The excavation reasued the west wall to-day, where five bodies were found in a heap under the location of the servant's quarters. It is impossible to form a correct estimate as to the loss of life until the books of the hotel can be obtained. The foregoing estimate, giving the number of dead as 51 and the masing 30, making a total loss of life of 81, is thought to be as nearly correct as possible.

An atternoon many reade, the following state.

missing 30, making a total loss of life of 31, is thought to be as nearly correct as possible.

An afternoon paper made the following statement: "Taken to the morgue, 16; received from the ruins, 21; since died, 8; dead not taken to the morgue, 5; total, 50. This does not include fragments of bedies found. About forty people reported missing are yet unaccounted for, which swells the list to ninety. It is almost a sure thing that over 100 people lost their lives by the calamity."

A. Weller, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Office here, makes the following report: "Careful inquiry of those who witnessed the burning of the Newhall House from the commencement, develops the fact that the telegraph wires offered no obstruction to saving life, but, on the contrary, three or four lives were saved by jumping upon the wires, thereby breaking the force of the fail."

MAKING HOTELS SAFE.

THE LELAND HOTEL, THE BREVOORT HOUSE AND THE BRISTOL HOTEL INSPECTED.

Inspector Esterbrook did not send out any notices to owners of hotels in the city yesterday. He said that he had not been able to give his decision on any of the four reports which he received from the examiners on Saturday, but it was probable that he would send out some notices to-day. Examiners yesterday sent to Mr. Esterbrook reports on the Brevoort House, at Fifth-ave. and Chnton-place, and the Leland Hotel (formerly the Coleman House), at Broadway and Twenty-seventh-st. The Inspector declined to state the nature of the re-

A manufacturer of fire-escapes went to the Bureau of Buildings yesterday and told Mr. Esterbrook that the lessee of the Bristol Hotel, at Nos. 51, 53 and 55 West Eleventh-st., had refused to permit fire-escapes to be placed on the building. As the owner of the hotel had given an order for the fireescapes, the manufacturer was advised to appeal to the police for protection, and use force, if necessary, in putting up the escapes. He went away, and as he did not return—again it—was thought that he had been successful.—Warren Leland was standing in front of a blazing Warren Leannd was standing in front of a blazing fire in the early English fireplace in his early English café at the Leannd Hotel last night when a TRIBUNE reporter found him. "Yes," said he, "the Bureau of Buildings inspected our hotel on Saturday and made no suggestion of any alteration. You see this hotel was originally a row of private houses, see this hotel was originally a row of private houses, and brick walls run clear to the roof every i wenty feet or so. Then there are fivestairceases running from the top to the bottom of the house, two of them leading to Twenty-seventh-st, and three to Broadway. The examiners made no suggestion as to fire-escapes being put up. I don't see where one could be put on to advantage. I consider, and I think the inspectors considered, this bouse to be as safe as any can be made unless you build a fire proof bunding. There is no call de sac in which any one can be caught in case of fire—all the pa-sages lead to the stairs. Then there is a fire alarmon every floor, and night and day at least ten men are on watch."

To give the alarm at once and then do all they and I attribute it all to my watchfulness in looking after little things. Now here we never have any matches laying around loose. There is no room where rubbish is kept and no upholstery room on where rubbish is kept and no uphoistery room on the premises. None of the employees are lodged here except a few of the chambermands, and they are lodged on the top floor. The cellars are kept free from everything that could cause a free. In short, every precaution is taken which I can think of and with the facilities for escape I think the hord is perfectly sate and the examiners seemed to think so too. Still, if they can suggest anything that would add to the safety of the building I would be yield to carry our their suggestions."

Mr. White, the proprietor of the Brevoort House, said that the inspectors had not made any suggestions in regard to the hotel proper, but had suggested that fire escapes be put on the back of the two houses adjoining the hotel and under its management. It is more for the interest of a loc-d-keeper than anyone else to have his house absolutely safe. We have five staircases in this hotel, running from top to bottom and in case of fire no one would have the least difficulty in escaping. Tous hotel was originally a collection of private houses and they make the very best sort of a hotel building on account of the frequency of brick partition walls. This house has been frequently inspected and I believe it to be perfectly safe."

Mr. Davis, of the Bristol Hotel, said that his house was inspected over a month ago and lire escapes were ordered to be put on the rear. THE CITY BANK DELIBERATELY ROBBED.

PRESIDENT BOICE AND CASHIER SHAW IN JAIL TO-GETHER-A BOOKKEEPER ARRESTED.

Washington B. Williams, receiver of the wrecked City Bank of Jersey City, has sufficiently advanced in his investigation of its affairs to make it absolutely certain that the collapse of the institution was the result of a systematic plan of robbery. No other language can accurately describe the methods by which the bank's capital, assets and deposits were absorbed and its treasury depleted. Cashier Snaw's statement, published on January 3, represents the amount due depositors to be $60,649 74. This statement is verified by the entries in the general ledger, but when the individual ledger account was examined by the receiver, the total amount of deposits was found to be $168,582 90. The only assets that the receiver has been able to find, afte a most diligent and careful search, are the $1,200 in each in the safe, the furniture and fixtures which are estimated to be worth $500; overdrafts of depositors which can probably be collected, $3,829 83, and the collectable balance of the unpaid capital stock, which is estimated at $25,000, making the total $30,529 83. These figures, which are considered trustworthy, make the deficiency $138,053 07. The books show, so far as they have been examined, that of this sum the officers of the bank appropriated $97,648 99, giving as security their unindersed personal notes, and occasionally their checks. It is expected that a complete examination of the books will demonstrate the fact that the remainder of the deficiency resulted from overdrafts of the bank officers and loans made to themselves without security of any kind. The receiver has found that on the very day of the collapse. January 9, President Boice and Cashier Shaw divided all the money in the safe between them, with the exception of $1,200, which they seem to have overlooked in some unaccountable manner. Boice drew $3,312 50 and Shaw $3,512 50, and each put in his check to show where the mency had gone. Neither of them had a dollar in the bank to his credit at the time, $14.000 were found among the loans and discounts. Yesterday District-Attorney McGill, on information obtained through Receiver Williams's investigation, drew a complaint against Boice, charging him with having taken $3,312 50 on Tuesday, January 9, the day that the bank closed. The complaint was sworn to by Detective Clos, on information and belief, and he afterward arrested Boice at his home in Greenville. The prisoner was arraigned before Police Justice Stilsing about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and by advice of his connect, ex-Senator Winfield, waived examination and was committed for trial in default of $10,000 bail. Cashier Shaw waived examination and was committed in default of $10,000 bail on the two charges against him. They were both taken to the County Jail in the afternoon.

Subsequently Officer Stanton, of the District-Attorney's office, appeared in the Police Court, having in custody John L. Beach, the bookkeeper, whom he charged with having overdrawn his account $5,000. The prisoner furnished bail in the saun of $5,000 and was released. No further action has yet been taken in regard to the affairs of the Savings Bank.

The Board of Education held a special meeting has yet been taken in regard to the affairs of the Savings Bank.

The Board of Education held a special meeting last night to consider some method of recovering the $10,000 deposited by Treasurer O'Sullivan in the City Bank to pay salaries and claims against the Board. The Board resolved itself into a committee of the whole, with Director Morris in the chair. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee to draft an act, which the Legislature will be asked to pass, authorizing the Board of Finance to provide for the deficiency. A resolution was adopted dismissing Treasurer. O'Sullivan and relecting him on condition that he furnishes bonds within ten days.

electing him on condition that he furnishes bonds within ten days.

The depositors of the City Bank held another meeting in the evening, at which none but depositors were allowed to be present. A resolution was adopted, approving the appointment of Mr. Williams as receiver, and expressing confidence in him. Mr. Cowles. Mr. Williams's law partner, stated the result of the investigation of the bank's affairs, as far as it had gone. The depositors have not much hope of realizing anything.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE L. MEACHAM.

George L. Meacham, the senior partner of the firm of Mescham & Farnham, fruit dealers at No. 173 West-st., died at his home, No. 37 Second-place, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, from an affection of the heart. He was born in Boston in 1800, where he spent tion. When a lad he removed to Stonington, Conu., and became a clerk in a country store, of which, by perseve rance and energy, he ultimately became the owner. In 1826 he came to New-York and engaged in the flour trade in Front-st. until the financial panie of 1837, which left him almost penniless. Undannted by this misfortune he commenced life anew as a general shipagent, being largely concerned in the whaling interests of New-England, which his early associations on the cosas had especially fitted him for. In 1845 he embarked in the fruit trade in Wall-st, under the firm name of Meacuam & Tyson. On the retirement of Mr. Tyson the business was continued under the name of Meacuam & Stow, and subsequently as Meacham & Farnham due two years ago, when C. T. Shoue and H. E. Sandford became partners.

Notwithstanding Mf. Meacham's ag-, until very recently he took an active interest in his business. Mr. Meacham was a widower and five daughters survive him. 1826 he came to New-York and engaged in the flour

Isaac M. Walton, a wholesale commission dealer in shipping supplies at No. 19 John-st., died at his house, No. 490 Lexington-ave., on Sunday evening, of crysipelas. He was born in this city on July 4, 1837, and after being graduated from Haverford College, in Pennsylvania, engaged in the hardware business at No 67 Warren-st., with his brother, J. J. Walton, under the firm name of I. M. Walton & Co. He subsequently withdrew from the bardware trade and engaged in the but-ter business in Water st. This venture proved very un-successful, and he accepted a position as bookkeeper in the Bowery Savings Bank. He afterward became a dealer in shipping supplies. Mr. Walton was born of quaker parents and he belonged throughout his life to that sect.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15 .- Joseph Sailer, for ma y years financial editor of The Philadelphia Public Ledger, died this morning. He had been suffering from complication of diseases. Mr. Salier was in his abors were uninterrupted and not a single number of The Ledger appeared without containing some of his work. In 1877, on receiving assistance in his work, he reluctantly took his first holiday -a week at Saratoga. For the past eighteen months, however, his duties have been so lightened that they did not press heavily upon him and he may be said to have almost ceased active work. At the beginning of this year Mr. Sailer retired upon full pay, his room, desk and chair being reserved for his occupacy upon his occasional visits to the office. Until near the close of his active life Mr. Sailer

A PANIC IN A COTTON MILL.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 15 .- There was quite a panic at the Perry Cotton Mills this afternoon, caused by the filling of the mill with steam from one of the policis, which burst. The women operatives rushed pell mell for the fire escapes and the stairways, and some, more frightened than others at the alarm of fire and the blinding steam, made for the windows, but were prevented from leaping out by the wise counsels of out siders, who assured them that there was no danger. None of the operatives were injured, and all reached the street in less than three minutes after the alarm was given. The fireman and the engineer were slightly injured. It is impossible to tell the extent of the damage. It will be several days before the mills will be able to start un again. start up again.

INAUGURATION OF GOVERNOR BATE. NASHYILLE, Tenn., Jan. 15 .- General William

B. Bate was inaugurated Governor here at noon today. In his address he referred approvingly to the emphatic expression of the popular will at the ballot box to pay that which the State acknowledges she justly owes, known as the "State debt proper"; but that part of the debt known as "contingent or railroad indebtedness," being in dispute, and liability for it questioned by a large portion of the intelligent tioned by a large portion of the intelligent voters and taxpayers, who claim equities as just voters and taxpayers, who claim equities as just and honorable offsets, the State, by a decided vote, authorizes, in a spirit of compromise, a tender of terms of settlement to the creditors of one-half of the principal and interest, which it is hoped and believed will be met in the spirit in which it is tendered, and a full, final and satisfactory settlement be effected.

After the insuguration a live eagle was set at liberty from the Capitol, in its bill bearing a medial on which was inscribed: "For President—Cleveland, of New-York; for Vice-President—Bate, of Pennessee."

AN ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE SULTAN

LONDON, Jan. 15 .- The Times's Cairo dispatch states that telegrams from official sources in Constantinople report that some Circassians attempt-ed on Sunday to assassinate the Sultan. A woman divulged the plot. The Albanian body-guard met and defeated the Circassians in the vicinity of the Sultan's apartments. Several men were killed in the encounter.

MR. RUSLING AND MR. MoPHERSON.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: In reply to a communication from Mr.

John R. McPherson in your issue of to-day, I beg to say:
(1.) My suit would have been begun several months ago except for the request of Mr. McPherson for delay pending negotiations for settlement. (2.) Mr. McPherson has not "recently been apprised "of my claim. He has known of its eristence since the time our agreement was made, and has had it pressed on his attention for more than a year past.

(3.) As to his deniel of "every ellegation" made in my bill, I will only observe that he will have either to deny his own handwriting or retract his denial of the truth of my allegations.
